How Did We Resolve These Issues?

Our customized ArionERP system served as the perfect solution for the difficulties faced by the client due to their rapidly expanding operations. The solution was designed to manage operations like procurement, distribution, accounting, and reporting across all the warehouses, with minimal need for manual intervention. The solution ensured that the stock levels in all the warehouses remain replenished and that fresh products are ordered as and when the need arises.

Key Points Of Our Solution

We strived to ensure that the ArionERP system was highly flexible and scalable to accommodate the increasing business needs of the client. The ArionERP solution was customized as per the client requirements, which were to have their own specific method in place for tracking inventory and to make the purchasing process more flexible. The solution has significantly improved visibility into inventory across the warehouses and has helped client to maintain sufficient stock levels to keep up with the increasing distribution requirements.
